Westinghouse And Union Sign Contract

WASHINGTON (INS) — Both sides claimed victory today in a compromise settlement of the 156-day-old Westinghouse Corp. strike as some 44,000 employes prepared to return to work at 30 plants.

The bitter and costly walkout ended last night when the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical workers' 75-man conference board approved the plan.

The compromise includes a five-year contract, retroactive to last Oct. 15, and a three per cent annual wage raise, effective when strikers return to work. The medium increase during the five years will be 25 cents an hour.

IUE President James B. Carey and Board Chairman Robert Nellis hailed the agreement as "a clear-cut victory for the strikers and for all workers in the electrical industry."

They said the pact "includes gains far in excess of those offered by management before the strike began."

Westinghouse Vice President Robert D. Blasier, who headed company negotiations, said, "All in all, we are highly pleased with the entire settlement."

Woolworth Grand Opening Thursday

Keeping abreast of the times the recently remodeled F. W. Woolworth & Co., will hold formal opening Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Preceding the opening of the doors, a 15-minute broadcast over KMAC will be conducted by Melvin Belew at 8:45 o'clock in which A. G. Witherspoon, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and a number of other McKinney business men will make short talks.

The grand opening ceremonies will take place at 9 o'clock with Mrs. H. I. Shoape, owner of the building, cutting the ribbon. Manager G. D. Ledbetter will be assisted by store personnel in welcoming the visitors and showing the new improvements which have been completed.

Changing from the old system, Woolworth's will in the future offer the new self-service to the customer, providing buggies and baskets for each shopper to be used about the store, collecting items from each department, and checked out at the new check-out stations which have just been installed. Previously items were paid for at each counter causing the shopper to end up with numerous small packages. The new method, which is becoming the trend in most of the larger businesses today, is a time saver for the shopper who leaves the store with one compact bundle which is much easier to handle.

Another innovation for the McKinney store is the new luncheonette, with a seating capacity for 25 persons at a time. At this modern new counter all kinds of sandwiches, coups, fountain drinks, cakes and pies will be served. Grills are provided for the preparation of sandwiches, with "Specials" featured from time to time. The fountain will be open to serve throughout the day. The fixtures are in stainless steel, with revolving chair stools, upholstered in leather to match the decor of the store. One of the fountain specials at all times will be the "Jumbo Hamburger platter" for 50 cents.

Throughout the building a green and coral pink color scheme has been used as a background for the beautiful new handy counters and display racks. The store is air-conditioned for summer or winter, and the lighting is of the newest type to be found. Many of the departments have been rearranged for the convenience of the customer. In fact, Manager Ledbetter states that every improvement was made to benefit the shopper.

Mr. Ledbetter has served as manager of the McKinney F. W. Woolworth & Co., store for the past 17 years, coming here from St. Louis, Mo. He has been with Woolworth's for 33 years altogether, having formerly been with the store in Tulsa, Okla., also.

Since moving to McKinney the Ledbetter family has been identified with the civic, social and religious life of the city. They are active members of the First Christian Church in which he is a deacon and his wife a deaconess. He is also a member of the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce, Quarterback Club, works with the Boy Scout program here and for two years served as chairman of the Collin County Red Cross Chapter. He is secretary of that organization now. He has taken part in all major drives made in the city and county under the auspices of civic and service clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ledbetter have a son, Charles, who is a senior in Boyd High School this year. He plans to begin pre-med work in Texas University at Austin, next Fall. Their daughter, Mrs. Bobby Hobbs, of Ada, Okla., is the former Miss Corethia Ledbetter of this city.

The entire personnel of the store joins the manager in extending an invitation to the general public to visit the new Woolworth's and attend the grand opening ceremony Thursday morning. The employes and the number of years they have been associated with the local company are as follows:

Edna Earle Russell, 23 years.

Helen Dunn, section supervisor 4 years.

Lions Baseball Team In Second Week Workout

By NORMAN SCOTT

The McKinney High Lions, who return to Texas Interscholastic League competition in baseball this year after a lay-off of a season in 1955, are now in their second week of work-outs under the direction of Coach Rusty Talbot.

Bad weather has curtailed some of the work but Coach Talbot has been working the Lions long and hard on the past few days in more suitable weather.

He has already cut his squad down to 15 and the lads are battling for starting positions. At third base, Charles Fellenstein and Robert Joplin are battling for the left corner spot, and Johnny Biggs at short-stop and Louis Sanchez at second rose, look like they have their respective positions sewed up. Don Wharton and Eddie Lane, a left-hander, are working at first base with Wharton holding the edge at the present time.

At the backstopping spot, Yasbel Sepulveda and Jimmy Vessels are showing up fine and with the start of actual drills Coach Talbot hopes to find a winning battery.

The pitching staff is shaping up with Coach Talbot saying that Don Hamilton, Sepulveda and Jimmy Biggs are the three hurlers who have looked the best to date.

Missing from the squad is Otis Barrett, of Denton, who is ineligible. Also missing is A. D. Hope, who is recovering from an illness at his home in Howe.

Recent guests of the Rotary Club were Dan Hall and Otis Rangel, Cottage Hill, and Mrs. Hall and Tom Wilson, Melissa.

Plans Begin For Boys League This Summer

Plans for the 1956 season of the McKinney Baseball Leagues were discussed at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The season will most likely open the first week in June and continue through July, same as last year.

Another group for boys who will be 12 and 13 years of age and the Youth League for the 14 and 15 year old boys.

Elsewhere in this paper there appears a blank form for the boys who desire to sign up for teams this season. Boys, between 8 and 15 years of age who want to play ball are asked to write their name and add several dates of birth (month, day and year) on the blank and take or mail it to the Chamber of Commerce office, 200 W. Virginia St., before April 1.

The board of directors this season will be composed of Pat Simpson, Sam Wysong, C. D. Ledbetter, James Riddle, C. D. Tate, Bob Brown and H. D. Mayson.

Historical Society At Jefferson Wants Landmark Preserved

The members of the Jefferson Historical Society and Museum and the Texas State Historical Society are urging that the old Sedberry Home at Jefferson be preserved as a historical site.

The groups have taken this action upon advice that the Gulf Oil Corp. has taken an option on the property owned by C. A. Meisenbacher on the corner of Broadway and new Highway 59.

The home has been one of the show places of Jefferson during the eight years of the annual Historical Pilgrimage. Known as Caddpa Valla, the house is approximately 100 years old, and built of virgin East Texas heart pine.

The structure is a raised cottage of the type prevalent in East Texas and Louisiana in the ante bellum period and has a brick basement with walls nine inches thick. High ceiled rooms and wide, honey-colored pine plank floors are a feature of the old house. The caddpa tree in the side yard, from which the place derives its name, is said to be the largest in the United States. It is 96 feet high and has a spread of 62 feet.

Both historical societies are seeking to preserve all historically important structures in Jefferson and any aid offered in this program, particularly in securing the preservation of the old Sedberry home, will be deeply appreciated, said George Haggard, president of the Jefferson Historical Society.

It is hoped by the society that the old house can be preserved and that if the company does erect a service station on the corner that it will be built along architectural lines that will carry out traditional Jefferson's old time beauty.

Other officers of the Jefferson Historical Society are Mrs. Rupert Walker, vice president; Mrs. Marvin Singleton, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. B. Koontz, curator of the museum.

The museum has recently secured the upstairs of the Carnegie Library building for its display of historic items, now numbering more than 2,000 which have been carefully catalogued by Mrs. Koontz.

R. E. Williams, of this city, E. Williams and Mrs. G. D. Bennett of Whitewright visited their brother, Sam F. Williams, in Clarksville Tuesday. He has been seriously ill but is now slightly improved.

Western Show At Legion Home Thursday Night

One of the best western and hillbilly shows in the country is going to be held right here in McKinney starting March 22nd at the American Legion Hall. Here is a brief resamie of the Unit which is to highlight the entertainment.

Don Pyles, band leader and promotion agent for Texas Melodies Music Co., handles the arrangement of songs, and along with Charles High, books the unit for personal appearances. Don has written about fifty songs of which sveral have been published. We expect some of the big artists to be warbling the tunes in the near future.

Don Hodge, vocalist and rythem guitarist, is known as the boy with the "tear drop" voice. Don has a unique quality to his voice which commands attention wherever he sings. This boy radiates personality both on and off the stage so it is no small wonder that Don is in the process of signing or receiving contract.

Happy Bond, a teen-aged delayers "cat" songs and plays lead guitar in a style which is envied wherever he goes. Happy can be credited for contributing to the recent swing to the rythem and blue field, especially in this neck of the woods. When "Honey Hush" was still unknown to many people Happy Bond was offering the song and was mighty well accepted.

To back many people with throbs, that Happy is the originator of that jump tune.

Howard Reed, accomplished guitarist, plays twin guitar with Happy and helps out in general. Howard, a teen aged son won every contest that was offered in the area. Once, he was given a head start to enter a contest in order to give the other participants a chance to win.

This week Harland Powell is playing steel guitar for the show. Harland worked on the "Shindig" in Dallas and is now playing with Sonny James on records and personal appearances.

So don't miss a single minute of this professional show, which gets underway at 8 p. m. Adm. 50c and 25c. The show is sponsored by the American Legion. For a preview of the show time is the Texlighters every morning on KMAC at 7:45.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Groforth of Blue Ridge, was as their weekend guests, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Groforth, of Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Terry and children, Benton and Linda, of Blue Ridge, visited his brother, Von Ray Terry, and family, of Benjamin.

Orchards . . .

At this season of the year we receive numerous inquiries as to the best spray to use for the control of plum curculio, cattacing insect borer, brown rot on peach and plum. These pests can be controlled if they are, the quality of the fruit harvested will be superior in appearance to non-protected trees. Spray curculio can and does completely destroy a crop if not controlled.

The best methods of control not only depends on the right poison but on the time of application. The best time to apply the first spray is when 75 per cent of the petals have fallen or 10 days. If needed it should follow in 14 days after the second.

Dilbo 40 is listed two good sprays for control to mix your own sprays. If you desire to purchase spray already prepared, several companies prepare a good fall spray.

Newer Practices in Swine Production . . .

The better hog producers are using the latest proven practices in swine production.

Better brood sows are being used. These that will weigh at least 6 pigs per litter, 2 litters per year. Boars are being used that come from a litter of 8 or more pigs that made fast efficient gains.

The practice of farrowing pigs in disinfected houses is very important. Heat lamps should be used during winter for young pigs. A 150 watt Pyrex infrared heat lamp. Placed 30 inches above the pigs, should provide ample heat.

The sow should be fed 1 of her normal feed for the first 3 days after farrowing. It is also good to start creep feeding the pigs when they are two weeks old.

Worming, vaccinating, and treatment for lice and mange are important. Worm the young pigs about two weeks after weaning. They should be vaccinated at six weeks of age for hog cholera. One treatment of Benzenehexachloride will control lice and mange. Spray the sows just before farrowing time and the young pigs before they are weaned.

Home Sewing Can Cut Clothing Costs . . .

As you plan the family spring and summer wardrobe, decide what to buy ready to wear and what you can have more and better if you make them yourself. Provided you sew well and have the time, you can also save money if you are skilled enough to make your own alterations of ready made, re-model garments and do a good job of mending.

A convenient sewing area will increase efficiency and pleasure in sewing. Here are a few suggested features to be used in planning and organizing a sewing center:

Cutting surface or table of elbow height.

Convenient pressing area — ironing board, sleeve board and steam iron or electric iron with pressing cloth.

Sewing machine placed so light comes over left shoulder.

Sufficient light both natural and artificial.

Easily cleaned floor — waste basket near machine.

Adequate storage for patterns, notions, pressing equipment, and yard goods within reach.

Electrical outlets properly placed.

Common Causes for Poor Sections . . .

Poor food habits and practices are the most common causes for poor health in children. Many folks fail to eat enough of the protective foods such as vegetables, fruits, milk, eggs, and meat. Others are guilty of eating too much rich food, which is high in calories but low in protein, minerals and vitamins. Most of us could profit by including more of the protective foods in our daily meals.

Poor food habits and practices can be changed. Start by checking your present diet and food habits.

The Texas Food Standard is a recommended guide for planning the daily family food needs. Get a copy from your county home demonstration agents office at any time.

Prune Trees Carefully . . .

Prune trees for a purpose. Plan carefully and prune moderately. Severe pruning or "de-horning" can permanently deform and "figure" trees.

Prune trees to make the place more comfortable, convenient safe and attractive. Often trees can be shaped to improve their appearance. Low hanging limbs can be pruned off so that the lawn will be open and look more spacious. The health of the tree can be improved by removing dead, diseased or injured limbs.

Use good tools to do the job. A sharp saw, pruning shears and pruning knife will make clean cuts. Cuts should be made to remove diseased or injured limbs or to admit light and air into the tree to remove crossed or rubbing branches to make it less dense or dense shade.

Watch your pruning technique. Make clean cuts. Bit or flush with the main limb or trunk. Stubs left by improper cutting may cause rotting of the heart wood. — You may need to treat cuts on large limbs by painting with a pruning compound such as creosote shellac, to hasten healing. Most trees must oils to cover small cuts. Generally horticulturists advise putting bandaging at all on a cut 2 inches or less in diameter.

If pruning is done now, spring growth will soon hide the cuts.

LETTERS FROM . .

THE PEOPLE

ANDREW JACKSON THE ONLY PRESIDENT WHO PAID OFF THE NATIONAL DEBT.

Andrew Jackson was born March 15, 1767. He was never vanquished and his Samson locks were never shorn. In his second inaugural March 4, 1833 he said: "I shall exert all my faculties to maintain the constitution and the Federal Union I shall try to keep my official acts clearly within the delegaporers of the Constitution 2. "To destroy the states or annihilate their control over the local concerns of the people would lead to anarchy and despotism". When asked to accept measures that encroached upon the states he replied: "Show me" says he, "an express clause in the Constitution authorizing the congress to take the business of the state legislatures out of their hands. Bancroft's history said." Jackson never would listen to counsels which tended to the centralization of power". He was deaf to every counsel which sought to subject general labor to a central will. He again said, to collect more taxes from the people than was needed to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the people when economically administered for the purpose of paying the surplus back to the states was one of greatest dangers. When on his death-bed three months before he died he worte a letter to the National Institute declining a sarcophagus that had been built for a king espressing his sincere gratitude, he said I must decline the honor sought to be bestowed. I cannot consent that my mortal body shall be laid in a reposatory prepared for an emporer or a king. My republican principles forbid it. The simplicity of our government forbid it. Every monument erected to the memory of our heroes ought to bear evidence of the economy and simplicity of our principles, and the planners of our citizens, who are the sovereigns of our glorious Union whose virtue is to perpetuate it. True virtue cannot exist where pomp and parade are the governing passions. I have prepared a humble depository for my mortal body beside where lies my beloved wife where, without my pomp or parade, I have requested, when my God calls me to sleep with my fatheres to be laid, for both of us there to remain until the last trumpet sounds to call the dead to judgment when we I hope shall rise together, clothed with the heavenly body promised to all who believe in our glorious Redeemer, who died for us that we might live and his atonement I hope for a blessed immortality.

Girls at the high schools are always following some sort of a fad. A while back they carried a lemon to school sucking on them all day and they made the lemon last that long too. Now they have another. They get a small vial of oil of cinnamon, dip a toothpick in it and keep this in their pretty mouths like the olden-day women did snuff. This won't hurt them—but the lemon would. It does not take long for the acid of a lemon to eat away the enamel on teeth. Go spatingly on raw lemons. Cinnamon cloves related to the spice tree that used to be so popular as a cooling drink, and proves as a pest in East Texas. Oil of cinnamon has another use, a drop of it a day on a wart will remove or dry up the wart in a week. Put it on at night.

The Scouts of McKinney, who man the ground Observer Post at Newsome Stadium are really on the job. Had an air alert Sunday and the post was operated all day long. Some forty planes were spotted and the filter center in Dallas called and given the information. The boys handled the rather complicated job of tabulating, naming and locating the planes, and handling the telephone calls like veterans. In the event of another war this could well turn out to be the most important wartime set-up in McKinney. It is heartening to know that we now have the trained personnel ready to function on fifteen minutes notice.

Saw a big Chrysler Imperial parked in front of the McKinney Drug Saturday, and noting the man and woman looking around sort of eagerly, went up and introduced myself. Proved to be from Cleveland on their way to California. The woman, Mrs. Eugene Hast, glanced around the square and mused, "What a lovely little town. Gene," she said to her husband, "what size?" The man nodded. "It's cute," he said. "Well be back. Coming back here to make our home next year."

Garrett Fitzmaurice, from west of Van Alstyne was in the county seat Saturday. Have known old Garrett for a mighty long time, but only Saturday did I think to ask him about his name. Well, sir, it turned out that his full name is Levi Garrett, and he was actually named for the big snuff manufacturer. Later, Garrett said he got the name "when he broke a bottle of the stuff with a hammer and almost perished in the ensuing cloud of snuff dust. Said his aunt had suspended the full bottle by a string over his crib for him to play with, and he was then less than two. He does not know how he got the hammer and does not recall a thing about it, save his mother placing him under the well pump and turning the water in his face. Old Garett does not use tobacco in any form.

Blossoms hanging on fruit trees. They do that when the conditions are not right for pollinating, waiting for warmer weather so insects can get about. Let us have ten more frostless days and we will probably come through with a big fruit crop.

Talking to Fitzhugh Newsome Saturday, and he told of how that old pioneer judge, John Church, wanted to clear off all the then buildings from the square to the railroad between Virginia and Tennessee Streets. Those old timers, they were long sighted ideas. Had this been done we would have reaching down to the Southern Pacific tracks, with plenty of parking space for a thousand cars. Instead of waiting until the present to start building in that direction, McKinney would have been a solid line of businesses on both sides of this great space long ago. Fine idea, wasn't it?

Found a fine lady's purse on West Louisiana last week. When I looked in it I found three pennies and the owner's address. Feeling sure that some had pilfered it, I hesitated to call the owner. Getting up enough courage to face the ordeal, and to make a stout denial that I found the purse empty, save the pennies, I made brave and called her. She said it had contained three pennies, and thanked me heartily for finding it.

One thing the TV has done for me is has shown up what a slow man I am to understand. My children laugh and shout when the cartoons come on the screen, but not me. The things move too fast for any understanding. Too fantastic too. By the time I figure out what Mickey the Mouse is up to the scene changes into a mean-looking hound that takes off like a rocket into the blue yonder. Can't keep up that's all. The kids seem to have no trouble though.

Dr. Wysong Thanks McKinney Firemen For Efficiency

Wysong, in expressing his appreciation of the McKinney Fire Department, makes the following statement: "I wish to thank the Fire Department and all the nice, young men that extinguished the fire in my home on March 9. They were prompt and efficient. I wish to thank everyone else also who came."

THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT BECAME LAW

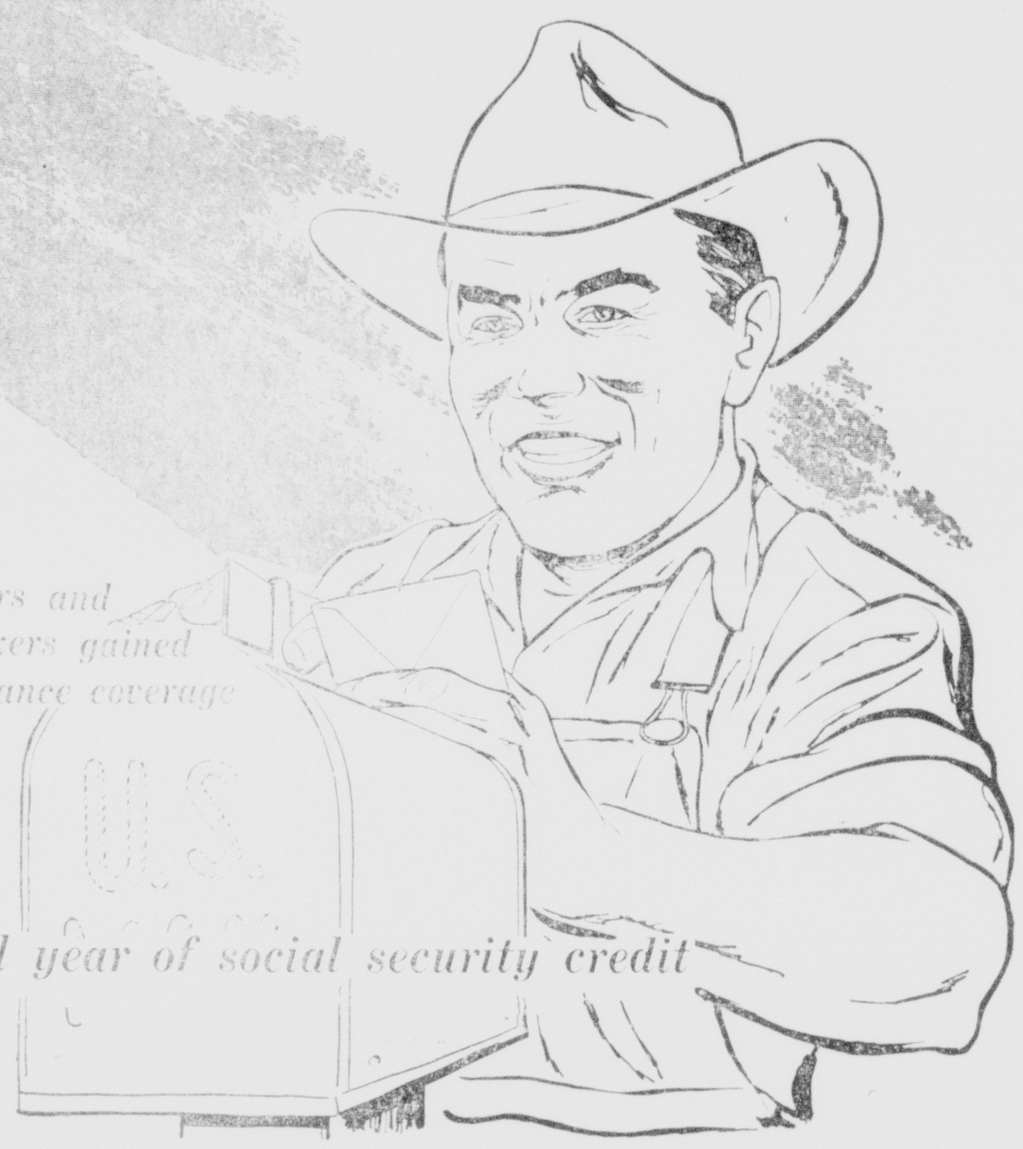
Old-age insurance started for employees in commerce and industry

Insurance protection included for families of workers covered by the law

Self-employed business people, some household workers, and regularly employed farm help brought under the law

1955

Self-employed farmers and nearly all farm workers gained social security insurance coverage



1956

Farmers have already earned one full year of social security credit and NOW it's time to ACT!

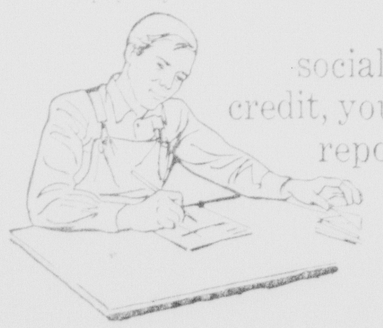
what must self-employed farmers do?

If you had net earnings of $400 or more from self-employment in 1955, the law requires that you

- Obtain a social security account number if you do not have one.
- File a return on Form 1040 (U. S. Individual Income Tax Return for 1955) by April 15, 1956. (However, if you are required to file an estimated tax return and have not done so by January 15, 1956, you should file your tax return on Form 1040 by February 15, 1956.)
- Attach to the return the schedule provided for reporting your self-employment income.
- Send the return and schedule to the District Director of Internal Revenue, with payment of any tax due. The rate of self-employment tax is 3 percent. You pay this tax on the first $4,200 of your net earnings for 1955 even if you don't have to pay any other income tax.



to get social security credit, you must report your earnings

Why the tax?

Social security taxes pay for social security benefits. The amount you pay goes into the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund, which is used only for social security purposes. It is from this trust fund that the benefits are paid.

The benefits go to you and your family when you reach 65 if you are earning no more than a certain amount, or when you reach 72 no matter how much you are earning. They go to your family in case of your death at any age.

8 million beneficiaries

Today 8 million people in the United States are receiving more than $415,000,000 every month in old-age and survivors insurance benefits. In Collin County, $54,966 is being paid every month to 1328 people—insured workers, their families, and the families of workers who have died.

how much will you get?

Average yearly earnings	Monthly old-age payments: Farmer	Monthly old-age payments: Farmer and wife	Monthly survivors payments: Widow, child, or parent	Monthly survivors payments: Widow and 1 child	Monthly survivors payments: Widow and 2 children
$600	$30.00	$45.00	$30.00	$45.00	$50.20

4,200	108.50	162.80	81.40	162.80	200.00

At least 1½ years of work under the law are necessary. The amount of work you need depends on your age.

For information about social security account numbers or social security benefits, get in touch with your social security representative at the McKinney Chamber of Commerce each Monday morning.

The Patriarch of the Greek Orthodox Church on Cyprus led the movement for union with Greece and was exiled a week ago.

Adlai's Blitz Backfires In Minnesota Vote

MINNEAPOLIS (INS)—Adlai E. Stevenson's Minnesota primary "blitz" backfired and today Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver claimed all but four of the state's 30 Democratic convention votes in return from Tuesday's upset presidential election.

Kefauver's victory, conceded by Minnesota Gov. Orville L. Freeman early today, was a damaging blow to the 1952 Democratic Presidential nominee's White House aspirations.

But Stevenson announced at once in Chicago that he will carry on his pre-convention campaign for Democratic delegates and remain in the four delegate primaries in which he is entered. These are Illinois, Pennsylvania, Florida and California.

With 2,985 of the state's 3,868 precincts unofficially reported, Kefauver had 212,387 votes to 164,189 for Stevenson.

Stevenson spokesmen said the results indicated that many Republicans crossed over and voted for Kefauver in the Democratic primary, which they can do under Minnesota law.

Kefauver was leading and appeared to have won seven of the state's nine congressional districts but the final outcome was still in doubt with a possibility that Stevenson would emerge with three

Sec. Dulles To Face Whole List New Problems

WASHINGTON (INS)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned from his three week Asian tour today to face a whole list of new problems that have arisen while he was away.

Soon after his arrival, however, he will report to President Eisenhower on his trip and then give the American peoples a full-in at 10:30 p.m. EST Friday.

He has also been invited to appear at 2 p.m. EST Thursday before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to give congress a first-hand report on his sojourn.

Meanwhile, his desk was piled high with an accumulation of problems that developed since he left to attend the Southeast Treaty Organization meeting at Karachi, Pakistan, and to visit other countries.

These problems include heightened tension between the Arab States and Israel, mounting hostilities between the NATO allies, Greece and Turkey, over the Island of Cyprus, the Russian denounciation of Stalin and intensified Indian opposition to the Southeast Treaty Organization.

Basically, the Russian attacks on Stalin presented the secretary with his most important long-range problem. For within the answer to the question of the debunking of the onetime premier lies the key to an understanding of Soviet problems and ambitions.

But of more immediate concern is the Mediterranean area where the Arab-Israeli conflict threatens to break into open shooting and where the Turkish-Greek argument over Cyprus menaces the unity of NATO.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban plan to see Dulles quickly to make a "supreme and ultimate" effort to win permission for Israel to buy 64 million dollars worth of American arms.

Eban conferred with Dulles two hours before the secretary left for Asia and got the impression that Dulles would give an answer on the arms request shortly after his return.
